FORMER GRENADIAN WRITES FROM WEST

Visits Town After Absence of Twenty Years. Pleased at Growth and Development and Points Out Way Grenada Can Continue to Grow and Prosper in Future Years.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 7, 1923.

Mr. O. F. Lawrence,
Editor Sentinel,
Grenada, Miss.

Dear Mr. Lawrence:

There is an old saying that bad money always turns up. This may be apropos of my recent visit to Grenada after an absence of twenty years. I was very sorry I was unable to see more of you and have a good talk with you but was told when I called at your office that you had gone to Greenwood.

I was agreeably surprised at the many changes which have taken place in Grenada and the vast difference, in many respects, in the Grenada of today and the town I knew twenty years ago, among which were the additions to the public school, the building of a new high school, the enlargement of the Grenada College and the many fine new residences. I could not help being impressed with the wonderful resources of the town and the possibilities for the building of a larger town or even a city. Grenada is a good town. It is one of the cleanest towns, physically and morally, I have ever seen. It has everything to commend itself to a person seeking a town in which to establish a home—its unlimited supply of the very best water, its educational facilities which insure an atmosphere of culture and an environment of refinement, its courteous, hospitable and unselfish citizenship. While all this may be true of a town no citizenship is really at heart so unprogressive as not to desire to build and make better. It is and should be the desire of every citizen to make his town a "bigger and better" place in which to live.

It is the desire of every person to make money as money is one of the elements and one of the evidences of success. Where money is there money is to be made. Money naturally congregates in the larger centers of population and business. One of the best ways for people to make money is to improve and enhance the value of what they already possess, and to build a town or city larger is one of the surest methods of enhancing the value of the property of that community. A larger community naturally provides a market for the fruits of labor and affords better and larger and more numerous opportunities for investment and the making of money.

I write this letter to you because I know that you are interested in the progress and the up-building of Grenada and are wielding to that end the great influence which as editor of a newspaper you have at your command. Being a newspaper man you will readily realize that the best way to build the town is to advertise it—to boost it. In the vernacular of the salesman, it is always necessary, in order for him to be successful, first to sell the particular article or line of merchandise in which he is interested to himself, or as it is commonly stated "to be sold upon it." It is equally true, in order to be successful in building a town, that its citizens first must sell their town to themselves—be entirely convinced of the representations and protestations of virtue which must enthusiastically be made to the prospective factory builder, merchant, farmer or new citizen of any walk of life, the subject of such salesmanship.

That Grenada can be built to the size of a large town or city, there is not in my mind the slightest doubt, but my conviction of this fact will avail nothing, neither will it avail anything if only a few of the good people of your town are imbued with this idea. It is going to take the combined conviction of the people of Grenada and the combined will to accomplish big things and the whole-hearted outlay of unselfish effort upon the part of every citizen, be he high or low, old or young, to bring about the results most to be desired. A survey of the town and the advantages to flow from residence there and these should be heralded to the world, by word of mouth, by letter, by newspaper editorial and advertisement, and in every other conceivable manner.

There are many persons who have attained in life what is to themselves a competence—a financial sufficiency, who are looking for some good place in which to settle down and live and educate their children, and your good public school system and your college for women, your healthful water supply and the general atmosphere of your town should be talked about and these will appeal to such people. A good live active Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce or some such civic organization should be formed and it should not be an organization composed of one active man but should be composed of all or at least a large number of your citizens—men and women who are really active, public spirited, sincere in their desires and unselfish in their efforts, who should neither ask nor expect any other recompense than that which flows to the public at large. If possible a secretary, some person particularly gifted or skilful in the art of presentation of such facts, should be employed, a person who can and will give all or such of his time as may be necessary properly to carry out the work of such an organization.

It might be well, too, to organize a Rotary, Kiwanis or Lions Club as the benefits of cooperation with other similar clubs will be unlimited but the work of such a club is or should be secondary to and coordinated with that of your Chamber of Commerce.

Above all selfishness should be eliminated. It is often said of towns, large and small, that nothing would so help their progress as a good fire or a few prominent funerals. The reason for this saying is selfishness upon the part of a few persons, probably large property owners, who stand in the way of civic progress. In order to build the town its citizens must eradicate the thought of self-service and sup-plant therefor civic-service and let the results take care of themselves, but be assured that great good will flow to all from such unselfish effort.

If a factory is to be located the price of the property sought for a site therefor should not immediately soar but the owners should be satisfied with a fair price. In our City recently we all but lost a $300,000 to $500,000 cotton mill by the owners of the property, where it was sought to locate such mill, making exorbitant demands for the sale of their realty. In securing this mill it was necessary for the citizens of this city to subscribe $20,000.00. In the building of your town and all other towns it will frequently be necessary to subscribe bonuses of this kind but this should be done with wisdom and within reasonable limits and great care should be used to see that a strong string is tied to all such financial aid. Attention should be given to the rural districts. Good roads built and marketing conditions greatly improved. Endeavor to bring into your community the best farmers and agricultural and livestock men possible. A cosmopolitan citizenship insures a diversification of idea and thought, which is always good for a community. Grenada should be the hub of an ever-enlarging territory. With such organization, and sincereity of purpose, and eternal boosting, there is no reason whatever why Grenada should not be made a city of from 15,000 to 25,000 in a comparatively short time.

This letter is written, not in a spirit of criticism, but with the hope that a word from the outside may be a source of encouragement. I have always been interested in Grenada and her progress and shall always be glad to hear of the continued upbuilding of my old home town.

Paving Engineer Explains Selection

Tells Why Board of Aldermen Chose Sheet Asphalt for Paving City's Streets. Inquiries Made of Leading Southern Cities as to Which Type of Paving Preferred.

Editor Sentinel:—

Some time ago inquiries were sent to a number of leading southern cities, asking as to which pavements had become standard for residential districts, which were generally preferred also as to practice regarding the character of base recommended and used. Twenty-four replies were received. Of these, sheet asphalt was standard in 19, preferred in 10; asphaltic concrete standard in 14, preferred in 5; Portland cement concrete standard in 12, preferred in 6.

Other paving materials also had a following, all other being less than the above. Concrete as above, was almost unvincably employed in view work.

Ten bids were received last night for the Grenada paving, all from responsible contractors.

The lowest bid was on portland cement concrete. The lowest on an asphaltic material was for asphaltic concrete and the next on sheet asphalt.

The board accepted the sheet asphalt proposed of the Independent Paving Co., of Birmingham, Ala.

In buying sheet asphalt, the board felt that they were reflecting the sentiments of the abutting property owners who pay for their part and the general public of Grenada. The price paid was very reasonable-in line with or lower than that paid by neighboring cities for similar construction. Had the board bought concrete, the price paid by abutting property owners would have been about 15% less-a difference not in excess of the difference usually paid where sheet asphalt is preferred.

Yours very truly,
J. H. Dorroh,
Consulting Engineer

MISSISSIPPI DEMOCRATS INDICATE THEIR PREFERENCE

Early Returns Indicate Whitfield and Bilbo for Second Primary. State Committee Meets Next Tuesday. Those Declared Nominees by County Committee. Second Primary August 28.

The primary election held throughout the State on Tuesday, August 7, brought few surprises to those who kept a tab on the situation. Of course all the candidates for Governor "claimed"; that was natural. They have to do that. And another thing, it just somehow gets into the average candidate's system that he is "going to win," and one of the reasons for this is that his friends too often fail to tell the candidate, just as most men do those in high office who have favors to bestow, anything but what they think will be pleasing to them.

Conner made a gallant fight for Governor, but was swamped on a misrepresentation of his failure to go to war, and, too, the appropriations made by the last legislature made a barrier for him that it was hard to overcome. There were candidates in the race who were just as much responsible for the approfriations as Conner, yet they ducked and laid it off on him. And the people just failed to draw the distinction between the taxes they impose themselves and the State tax, while the latter is a mere nothing to the County taxes.

Conner was the object of attack by Whitfield, and Bilbo, Franklin and company were terriffic on him, particularly was this true of Bilbo.

At this writing (Thursday morning) the returns are incomplete, however, those already in are sufficient to show the trend and especially on the governorship, and it is evident that Prof. Whitfield will go into the second primary greatly in the lead with Bilbo coming second. Bilbo seems to have almost crowded Franklin off the roost and to have largely swiped what is left of the old Vardaman vote. Russell killed Franklin, he is a load that no man can carry in Mississippi.

The State Executive Committee will meet in Jackson August 14, to declare the official result.

Garner has a big lead for commissioner of agriculture, and it appears that Joe Powell has defeated Walker Wood of Winona for Secretary of State. Lowry wins for Treasurer and the returns indicate that Rush Knox has beaten both Dayton Potter and Luther Burch for Attorney General. Moore wins for Land Commissioner and Bond has a big lead for Superintendent of Education. Murphree wins for Lt. Governor.

The Democratic Executive Committee of the County met Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and declared the following nominees: White for Representative; Dogan for Sheriff; Thomason for Chancery Clerk; and James for Circuit Clerk and Atkinson for Supt. Education. The second primary will decide whether Groce Carver or Lawrence Yeager shall be Assessor. J. H. Owen was declared the nominee for Justice of the Peace in District 1, so also was M. Q. McCormick in District 3 and B. L. Harris in District 5. The race for the second Justice of the Peace in District 1 will be between J. A. Gibson and B. F. Turner while the race for Constable will be between Jack Smith and R. M. Wood in District 1 and between C. D. Gibson and W. W. Martin in District 5. J. H. James was nominated for Supervisor in District 2 and W. V. Horton in District 3, while the contest for the second primary will be between J. C. Whitten and Ira G. Rounsaville for supervisor in district 4, and between L. T. Hayden and W. K. Gray in District 5. The second primary will be held August 28. The vote by precincts in Grenada County may be seen on page 5.

COTTON STATES MERCHANTS MEET IN MEMPHIS

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 9.—The Cotton States Merchants Association will be host to the big gathering of merchants and business men August 22, 23, 24 on the occasion of its 10th annual convention. This Association has been of incalcuable benefit to the South in the past and with the new membership growing it is becoming stronger and stronger each year. The spirit of co-operation is the key-note in its operation. It seeks to serve, to offer suggestions, to jerk the kinks out of problems that come up in line of business and to develop the whole South. Any man who has an interest in his community, in his town, and in the Cotton States should become a member, lend his influence, and be a factor in its growth. The program this year is the best yet arranged. There will be many talks by men of national prominence, who have made good and can tell you how it is done.

There is not a town in the South more hospitable than Memphis. It is a growing city. Its people are progressive and agressive. Its institutions are the best in the land. Its wholesale and retail establishments will rank favorably with any in the South. For business or pleasure it is really a "glory-land."

The annual meeting which will be held in August will bring together thousands of the business men and planters of the Southern Section. You will enjoy your stay in Memphis. You will be given the best and that is sufficient. The committee on entertainment is already busy and have plans perfected for your entertainment and comfort. You will be enlightened, entertained, and made to feel "at home." The invitation is broad enough to make it a personal one for all who desire to come.

Nothing just like the Cotton States Merchants Association Convention: nothing better or more profitable. Memphis will expect you Ahgust 22, 23, 24.

With good wishes for yourself and family and for Grenada and its good citizens, I am,

Sincerely yours,
PAUL C. WILLIAMS.

The above well written and interestingly stated letter was received a few days ago from Mr. Paul Williams, who recently visited Grenada after an absence of perhaps twenty years. Mr. Williams was reared in Grenada and when a mere child, just somehow his demeanor and his energies attracted the older heads to him, and it is no surprise that he has educated himself and that he has achieved distinction as a lawyer in the great State of Oklahoma. He had the care, love and attention at all times of a widowed and good mother, which is no doubt the seat of his inspiration and the spring board of his success.

GRENADA COUNTY REPRESENTED AT BOYS' CLUB COURSE

A. and M. College, Mississippi August 9, 1923.—The Boys' Club Course in Junior Farm Mechanics and Livestock Judging which began here on August 1, is now well under way. The courses in the construction and operation of gas engines and tractors have attracted the largest registration. The courses in livestock judging are also very popular. The regular courses of instruction, which are required of all club boys, are especially beneficial because of the practical manner in which they are taught. One period of three hours of practical work is being given in each of the following subjects: Farm Machinery, Concrete Work, Terracing, Drainage, Soldering, Pipe Fitting, Painting and White Washing, Rope Work, Belt Lacing, Forge Shop, Wood Shop, Orchard Work, and Gas Engines and Tractors.

On the last day of the Short Course a Live Stock Judging contest will be held and a team of the three highest scoring individuals will be selected to represent Mississippi in the Tri-States Livestock Judging Contest at Memphis, Tennessee, September 26-27 when they will compete, against similar teams from Tennessee and Arkansas, for a free trip to the National Boys' and Girls' Club convention and International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, Illinois. A second prize of $75 and a third prize of $50 are also offered in the Memphis contest.

The total registration for the Short Course is over three hundred. Forty nine counties are represented. Among this nurber are the following boys from Grenada County who are doing splendid work:

Calvin Staten, Grenada, Miss., R. 2
Gus Hayward, Grenada, Miss., R. 2
Barclay Coates, Hardy, Miss.
Frank Thomison, Grenada, Miss.

Farming Editor Addresses Meet

Discusses Cotton Association as Cold-Blooded Business Proposition. Many in Attendance at Cotton School Held in Grenada Monday. Farmers Evidencing Great Interest.

That there is an increased interest in cooperative cotton marketing in Grenada County is evidenced by the fact that nearly two hundred farmers, business, and professional men attended the cotton school at Grenada Monday, Aug. 6. This attendance far exceeded the expectations of the leaders of this movement, in that the meeting was held on the eve of the election.

The program was divided into two sessions, one in the morning which was taken up in the discussion of the fundamentals of the cooperative marketing of cotton, the one in the afternoon in answering questions concerning the the detail handling of cotton by farmers and the Association.

At the morning session J. W. Willis discussed the movement from the standpoint of a Grenada County farmer. Mr. Willis has made an extensive study of this system of marketing in the various states where cotton has been sold cooperatively for the past two years, and is convinced that it is a sound business institution from every standpoint. The strength of his belief is evidenced by the fact that he signed the first cotton contract in Grenada County.

The feature address of the occasion was delivered by Dr. Tait Butler, Editor of the Progressive Farmer, who in his characteristic unique manner, held the attention of the entire audience for an hour and fifteen minutes. He discussed the Association as a cold blooded business proposition for himself, stating that as wealth increased in communities the circulation of his paper automatically increased; as circulation increased advertising space became more valuable; that he sold $4.00 worth of advertising space to Northern customers to every $1.00 worth of subscription in the South; that his interests were absolutely in common with the Mississippi farmer, for as their wealth increased in the same proportion would his business prosper; that any business man who opposes cooperative marketing of cotton does so on account of a short-sighted business policy, placing more value on one dollar a foot from his eye than he does on one hundred dollars one hundred feet away. Dr. Butler plainly stated that in his dealings with business men, he finds two classes who are antagonistic to the movement; one on account of ignorance, the other on account of an unwillingness to give up a profit they have long been claiming for themselves. Dr. Butler showed that cotton exported from the United States during the past fifty years has formed the balance of trade between this country and foreign countries (with the exception of the period during the world war) and has played the greater part in making the U. S. the richest nation of the world, yet people who produce it are the poorest farmers per capita in the U. S. In giving his personal experience as a cotton farmer he claimed at least average intelligence but showed from figures taken from actual sales of cotton that he was not competent to sell his own cotton. He further showed that there is a wide difference of opinion on grades and staples of cotton on the part of cotton buyers with years experience which emphasizes the fact that if we are going to get the true value of our cotton it must be handled by experts who know what constitutes the Government standards. It has been said that farmers are not competent to handle big business. Dr. Butler with a number of true illustrations showed that farmers are as keen in big business as are men trained in other lines of industry.

At the afternoon session A. G. Spinks of the field service department of the Cotton Association took up, a discussion of those question which would come up in the minds of the farmers concerning the handling of their cotton from the time it is picked until the final settlement was received. A full explanation was given about the time of ginning and delivery, place of delivery, method of getting receipts, collecting payments, caring for mortgages, making all collections on cotton and instructions given as to the selection of a local man to whom the grower can go for correct information.

Judging from questions asked by the farmers they are realizing that they don't belong to the cotton association but that the Association belongs to them; that they shape its policies and direct its activities through their county and district officers whom they annually elect from their members. They now realize that the machinery for the most efficient handling of this year's crop is set up and that their employees have connections whereby this year they can get a profit which formerly has been going to the middlemen.

THINK SUPERVISORS WERE ARBITRARY

Number of Citizens Address Communication to Sentinel Editor in Which They Complain that Board Acted Unwisely in Matter of East Road. See Higher Taxes as Result.

Editor Sentinel:

Something else about the proposed road running east to connect with Calhoun County. A petition signed by as good men as you have in Grenada County was presented to the board of supervisors at its July meeting, or rather July 9, the day set to specially hear those who have interested themselves in running the road via Williamsville, but the majority of the board seemed arbitrary. One member said that four members had resolved to run the road on the first survey and that there was no chance to get a change. He made this statement notwithstanding the fact that the highway engineer's report shows that the route via Williamsville will cost our people, Grenada County folks, $37,542.04 less. There is another thing, too, that ought not to be overlooked and it is this: There is a bridge already across the Yalobusha river at Graysport, yet it is proposed to build another only about 2 miles further up the river. It seems to us that the convenience of the general public demands a bridge higher up the river, and certainly, it looks to us, that it would be to the interest of the town of Grenada not to put two river crossings so close together. Besides only recently a contract has been let to build higher and improve the present dump on either side of the river at Graysport where the present bridge stands. We are unable to understand why the supervisors are so arbitrary. We believe that if the folks generally understood this situation, that there would be almost an uprising against the action of the supervisors. People must have forgot what a cry there was against taxes last year at tax paying time, but don't you forget it, that taxes will be higher this year and the wailing we had last year will be a kitten's cry compared to what is coming. Wake up people and speak to your supervisor. Mr. James from district 2 is the only member of the board who wanted to save Grenada County the thirty seven thousand dollars.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.

Sec. 5. Any property owner may make such special improvements for himself, as allowed by the city charter, but for the sake of uniformity in the work, such special improvements shall be made according to the plans and specifications and drawings adopted therefor and within thirty days after the order is passed by the Mayor and Aldermen for such improvements, and if any such abutting property owner shall fail to so specially improve the portion of such street so required to be improved by him as required and within 30 days after the order of the Mayor and Aldermen therefor, the Mayor and Aldermen will cause same to be done and the portions of the cost and expense thereof assessable as herein provided against such abutting property will be so assessed and required to be paid as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That this resolution take effect and be in force from and after passage, and published as required by city charter..

THE PERILS OF INDIGESTION

The Disease That Strikes Without Warning. Quickest Way to Get Well is Through New Treatment Containing Seventeen Ingredients That Renew Every Part of the Body.

Indigestion in any form often proves fatal, but even in a mild degree is dangerous, because it brings on one ailment after another, running throughout the entire system, taking in the liver, stomach and blood, producing malnutrition and finally reaches the heart. For this reason any remedy that merely relieves the pain is not sufficient, but a complete systemic treatment is necessary to get permanently well.

This complete treatment is found only in a prescription called Re-Cu-Ma, which contains seventeen well known and thoroughly tested ingredients, so skillfully compounded that each one performs its function on the various parts of the body perfectly and harmoniously.

This remarkable prescription starts right to work on the digestive tract, relieves constipation, purifies the blood (the cause of rheumatism), cleanses the kidneys and puts your entire system to rights, thoroughly acting upon the colon, which, according to Prof. Metchnikoff of the Pastuer Institute, Paris, is the cause of all our bodily aches and pains. Re-Cu-Ma will dispel biliousness, sick headaches, nervousness and completely rid your system of all toxic poisons, which have been the direct cause of your sickly condition.

Re-Cu-Ma is sold and recommended by 2d Class Drug Store and other good drug stores, and if you don't feel a decided change in your condition after taking according to directions, you get your money back.

R. M. WOOD EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

I want to express my sincere gratitude to those who gave me their vote and used their influence in my behalf in my candidacy for constable in Beat One. I want to especially thank the ladies for their support and to ask all of you to remember me when you go to mark your ballot in the second primary on Aug. 28. I was fortunate enough to get into the run-off with a good lead. Since I am working every day I will be unable to see all the voters in the three weeks' time but want to ask you to do all you can for me. If elected, I promise you that I shall do my dead level best to make you a good officer.

Respectfully.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Grenada man says:

A. D. Collins, grocer, 107-1st St., gave the following statement June 14, 1918: "Sometime ago I had a severe cold that settled on my kidneys. They became weak and disordered and my back ached by spells. I was generally run down and had a tired feeling while the backache lasted. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and decided to get a box at the Second Class Drug Store. After using them, the trouble disappeared and I felt better in every way. I have never since had a return attack of kidney trouble."

On April 12, 1922, Mr. Collins added: "I have never had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I recommended them in 1918. They cured me and the cure has stood the test of years but I still praise and recommend Doan's to my friends."

WHY PAVEMENTS "EXPLODE" UNDER EXCESSIVE HEAT

Under the terrific heat that has prevailed generally during the last few weeks, certain types of pavements have been "exploding" with uncomfortable frequency, throwing huge slabs of concrete and paving blocks high in the air and often endangering lives of pedestrians and motorists.

This phenomenon is rare enough to make an explanation interesting, and a remedy worth while, the latter from a safety standpoint alone, to say nothing of public economy.

It is only the "rigid" type of pavement that "explodes." Rigid types are limited to concrete pavements and to block pavements in which the interstices between the blocks are filled with what is known as cement grout. The grout clings to the blocks and sets up even harder than concrete, and the result is a slab just as rigid as a plain concrete pavement.

In these types of pavements there is little or no room for expansion, that irresistible force brought about by intense heat. Even where expansion joints are provided at intervals, rigid pavements have been known to "blow up." The heat expands the rigid slab. In those cases where expansion is not held in compression, there is only one direction in which this force can expend itself, and that is upward. Pedestrians or motorists in the immediate vicinity are in more or less danger.

This is one of the reasons why engineers are more and more specifying flexible instead of rigid surfaces. In brick or stone block surfaces this is brought about by the use of asphalt between the units. This bituminous material absorbs expansion and permits contraction without "explosions" or cracked and crumbled surfaces. Such engineering design also allows for the upward thrust of a freezing sub-grade and for the continuous swelling and shrinking of the earth's surface under the influences of moisture and drought.

ODOM-SPENCER

Miss Jimmye Lee Spencer was united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon, August 1, to Mr. John L. Odom, Rev. J. R. Countiss saying the ceremony at his residence on College Avenue.

Both of these young people were reared in Grenada County and both are members of well-known families. The bride had been for some months in the employ of the Pressgrove Dry Goods Co. and all who have come to know her intimately have the highest regard for her. The groom is employed at Glenwild Plantation and enjoys the confidence and respect of a large circle of friends.

The Sentinel extends its congratulations and best wishes.

LAWRENCE N. YEAGER TO VOTERS

To The Democratic Voters of Grenada County:

That I should have lead two worthy men, one in office and the other known by the people of the County for many years, in the first primary brings to me a satisfaction that I cannot express. The vote of confidence imposes on me a responsibility, regardless of what the result may be in the second primary, that should, and I hope ever will, arouse the best in me.

I have tried to live right as a citizen. I have tried to do my duty as a father, as a husband and I have tried to be loyal to my friends, neighbors and my State. But I interpret the big vote I got more as a tribute to my good father who was called to his reward about three years ago, than to any particular merit of mine. It fills me with emotion to know that I had a father in whom the people had so much confidence. I shall try to be worthy of the name and the record of my father.

I feel that the good record he made as Tax Assessor is one of the main reasons why so many think I will be an efficient Tax Assessor. As to whether I will or not, I refer those who do not know me well, to those who know of what work I have done and what faithfulness and efficiency I have shown in other things.

The contest has been a pleasant one. My opponents were nice to me and I am sure that I tried to conduct a campaign that would appeal to the good judgment of our people. I had two high class gentlemen to oppose in the first primary; one of them is in the second primary with me. I shall continue the campaign on the same plane as before the first primary, and I promise you, if you elect me Tax Assessor, that I shall give the office the best attention of which I am capable and that I shall do my best to list all property and every citizen over 21 years of age, and that I shall do what is in my power to fairly and properly assess all property.

With feelings of the greatest gratitude to my friends and the good people of the County for their expression of confidence as shown by the vote in the first primary, and promising, if elected to be on the job and accommodating and obliging to all.

I am very truly, yours,

LAWRENCE N. YEAGER

DOGAN THANKS THE PEOPLE

To The People of Grenada County:

I am more grateful than I can find words to express for being nominated over such a worthy man for the office of Sheriff after having served you for only about twenty months. The expression of confidence in me and the endorsement given my record as a citizen and as an officer, could but quicken in the most callous minded, feelings that appeal to the best in any man. I have always tried to do my duty as a citizen and it has been my aim and heart's desire to do my sworn duty as a sheriff. If I have failed at any time or place it has been an error of the head and not the heart.

The duties of the office of Sheriff are delicate and many times trying, and no one knows this better than the man who is honestly trying to serve the best welfare of the public. But past experience gives me an insight into conditions and equips me, I trust, in such a way as will enable me to give you the best service the County has ever had in that office, and in making this statement, no reflection whatever is made on my worthy predecessors. We all ought to improve on the past.

I am under life-long obligations for the interest my friends manifested in my election. I am grateful to the people of the County for the very generous consideration shown me. I wish all the best in life and pledge everybody to make you the very best officer of which I am capable.

Most Sincerely,

CALVIN COOLIDGE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Calvin Coolidge is the sixth Vice-President to become President by the death of the Nation's chief executive. The others were: Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, and Roosevelt.

The country knows not much about its new President, but what it does know gives assurance that he is patriotic and that he can be counted on to give his countrymen the best service of which he is capable. To many the thought of a New Englander for President carries a sort of chilly sensation for the reason that those from that section are generally regarded as cold and unresponsive to those generous impulses which are one of the South's richest heritages and which are prized more highly in every other part of the country than in New England.

The new President is perhaps an abler man than his immediate predecessor. It is but natural that he should be somewhat bewildered for the time being.

We were impressed with the manner in which he took the oath. It was a beautiful sentiment that prompted him to have his father administer the oath of office. And we can well imagine something of the thrills that ran through the heart of the father when he realized the honors that had come to his boy.

Success to the new President. He is "our President."

THE CHRISTIAN'S TRUE MISSION

One of the greatest hindrances to getting people to accept the Christian religion is the misconception that they have of it. The Master said to the Samaritan woman, "If thou knowest the gift of God, and who it is that saith unto thee, Give me to drink thou wouldst have asked of Him, and He would have given thee living water." Ah, yes! If she had only known the richness and sweetness of the Divine gift, long before she would have opened her heart to receive it. And this is largely true of the millions of the human race today. If men knew what religion truly is, most men would want religion. If they knew its peace joy and blessedness, it would be difficult to keep them in the disappointing paths of sin. If they could catch a vision of our Lord in all the beauty, charm, and glory of His marvelous personality, the fascination of evil would be broken, and they would rush into His presence and fall in penitence and adoration at His feet. Here, then, we discover our true mission as the disciples of the Man of Galilee. It is so to wear the image of Christ in our hearts, that others looking at us, can see Him as He is. It is probably largely true that they must first see Him in us, or they will never see Him as a Savior anywhere. As some one has said, "There is a better picture of the Christ in every pure and contrite heart than can be found in all the grand art galleries of the world." When we are worldly and inconsistent, we misrepresent our Lord; we give men distorted conceptions of Him; we lessen His drawing power, and we fasten more tightly upon our fellow-beings their awful chains of bondage. But when we faithfully reflect the image of Christ, we are helping to liberate and redeem mankind. And when every disciple of Jesus shall faithfully exhibit His spirit, it will be the day-dawn of the Master's universal triumph. As he has been strikingly declared, "When Jesus has dominion over the Church, it will be but a short time until He has dominion over the whole wide world."—Southern Methodist.

THE DEATH OF OUR PRESIDENT.

The country from one end to the other is sorrowed by the death of President Harding which occurred last Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at San Francisco, where he had stopped when he became what was regarded as dangerously ill. The press had carried the news to the world that Mr. Harding was recovering and that he would be able to start on a return trip to the Nation's Capitol within a few days. Thus when the news was flashed over the country that "Warren Gamaliel Harding is dead," every patriotic soul in the land, whether audibly or not, said, "I am sorry." And the Nation was sorry. The Nation mourns today for the dead President.

President Harding was "our President." We have our political battles in this country; we write and we say a great many things in a political way that are not expressions of our heart. The American people are loyal to their President. The Nation has never had a President that betrayed it in the least. The Nation never had a President who did not strive with might and main to advance the highest and best welfare of the whole country.

Harding will never be classed as a great President as measured by the standard of great intellects, or by a driving personality. He was not a man to create conditions. He was not a man of marked initiative. But instead of some of these things, he was blessed with a genuineness of soul and that broad fellowship and truly human spirit which made him sought as a leader and that established him as a safe counselor and as a true and loyal friend. There was nothing of the cold or distant about him. He realized one of the greatest lessons that sometimes the wisest fail to learn, and that is that it is men, human beings, with whom one must deal, and that these are agencies by which and through which the really great things of life are accomplished.

President Harding was broadly conservative. He was the friend of all sections. He was doing what he could to bind up the wounds of the war.

The President's death carries a lesson that we should all ponder over. It is an old one, yet one that it appears sometimes that the world never thinks about, and that is that death is no respecter of persons; that the great in power as well as the humble and lowly must obey its mandate. Should not the going away of our President emphasize to us the lesson of placing our own houses in order?

President Harding had long been a member of the Baptist church and had lived a consistent Christian life. The Nation mingles its tears with that of the devoted wife. In the language of Garfield when Lincoln was assassinated, "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives."

DISCONTENT WINS IN MINNESOTA.

The defeat of the Republican party and the temporary obliteration of the Democratic party by the farmer-labor coalition in Minnesota was no victory for radicalism. It was an expression of discontent.

The wheat farmers took a handy opportunity, by voting for Magnus Johnson for senator, to protest against the Fordney-McCumber tariff law and the less-than-a-dollar wheat that has followed its enactment. Railroad labor availed itself of a chance to punish the administration which had sponsored the Daugherty injunction and the Esch-Cummins law. The powerful Scandinavian voting element, having no natural choice between "Yake" Preus and Magnus Johnson, went with the tide. And now both senatorial seats from Minnesota belong nominally to a third and nominally radical political party without a coherent program.

Hard times always bring political revolts. Probably if wheat had been selling for a dollar and a half a bushel instead of under a dollar, Minnesota would have sent Gov. Preus to the United States senate. But the high tariff rates, always irritating to the Northwest farmers, accompanied by farm produce duties which had proved a failure, had yielded only a crop of economic vexations. And there was no escape from the fact that the farmers are producing crops at a loss. The loudest voice crying the griefs of agriculture and railroad labor belonged to Magnus Johnson. Preus, with the Republican label, the muted prayers of the administration and the support of the farm block, was a constant reminder of the party in power, to which those griefs were ascribed. The natural result was that Minnesota elected to the senate the leather-lunged vociferator who "wears no man's collar and frequently not even his own." Gov. Preus might as well have supported the Fordney-McCumber tariff for all the good his disavowal did him, and Senator-elect Johnson could without hazard have owned, and even worn, a dress suit.

Thus far the revolt in the grain states is the agrarian disturbance of the nineties all over again. That produced populism, which lived, throve and with good times died. This has produced the farmer-labor party. How far the parallel will travel, whether it will combine with the Democratic party as in 1896, is another speculation and another story.

The Democratic party was neither a factor nor an issue in the Minnesota contest. The administration and the Republican tariff were. And low-priced wheat, not a radical theory of popular government, decided the matter. Constitutional Americans need not despair. The Western farmer is no more a communist than the Eastern manufacturer. But when his labor is unrewarded with a commensurate amount of revenue he turns to the candidate who sympathizes with him the loudest.

Less-than-a-dollar wheat did it, but this, like all the other economic ills of the world, is the direct consequence of the failure of the United States government to participate in settling the world's problems. The farmer sees his wheat rotting in the bins for the lack of a firm export market, and yet he knows that Europe needs the wheat and would buy it if its credits were funded. Proceeding a step further, he must soon see that a responsible foreign policy at Washington could reestablish world credits. He already knows it is bad administration of government which permits such a condition to exist. So he is against the government, and in Minnesota Gov. Preus was the symbol of the government.

The harvest of political whirlwinds is being gathered by those who in 1920 sowed the wind.—New York World.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 12

MARTHA AND MARY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42; John 11:1-46; John 12:1-9.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Mary hath chosen that good part which shall not be taken away from her."—Luke 10:42.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Proverbs 31:10-31.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Loyal Friends of Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Martha and Mary.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—True Friendship Shown by Martha and Mary.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Home Problems Illustrated by Martha and Mary.

In order to properly understand these two characters, it will be necessary to look at the several narratives in which they are brought to our view. These are three in number.

I. The Behavior of Martha and Mary in the Days of Sunshine. (Luke 10:38-42.)

In this picture we see Martha engaged in preparing a meal for Jesus. In her effort to make the best preparation for her honored guest, she became distracted. She not only was cumbered with much serving but she found fault with Mary for not helping her. She even censured the Lord for permitting such neglect. Martha has had her followers in all ages. Every church knows them. The busy, troubled and fussy women who are engaged in service for the Lord with little patience for those who sit at the feet of Jesus. Mary sat at Jesus' feet and heard His word. She had taken her turn in the service as the word "also" would imply. She did not neglect service, but had the keenness of perception to discern that communion with the Lord was more prized by Him than the serving of a meal. Both of these women loved the Lord and it is impossible to say which loved Him more. In the days of sunshine in this home, Mary made the good choice of communion with her Lord.

II. Mary and Martha in the Day of Great Sorrow. (John 11:1-46.)

The next scene which occupies our attention is the occasion of the resurrection of Lazarus. In the time of the sickness of Lazarus, these sisters had sent for Jesus. Jesus loved the members of this household, and yet, strange to say, He delayed His going unto them. Martha met Him with rebuke, saying that if He had been there her brother had not died. This carried with it the censure for His delay under such trying circumstances. This act of Martha called forth some marvelous teachings on the resurrection. After this interview with Martha, she came to Mary with the message of a call from Jesus. Mary was composed and remained in the house until called for. She immediately responded to this call and used the identical words of Martha, but instead of rebuking her, He mingled His tears of sympathy with hers of sorrow. The reason she had such composure in this dark hour was that she had patiently sat at His feet and listened to His word so that she understood the meaning of the tragedy. The difference then in the behavior of these two women in this dark hour was doubtless due to the fact that in the days of sunshine Mary had entered fully into fellowship with the Lord and that Martha had lost this grace through her fretfulness.

III. Jesus Entertained at Bethany. (John 1:1-9.)

At this supper appeared Mary, Martha and Lazarus, who was raised from the dead. Doubtless this supper was in grateful appreciation of His help and sympathy in the days of their trial. At this meal Martha was back at her old business of serving, but it would seem with an unruffled disposition. Mary took a pound of spikenard, very costly, and annointed the feet of Jesus and wiped them with her hair. This was a token of her great love and devotion. She was back in her accustomed place at the feet of Jesus. With the keen intuition of true love, she brought her costliest gift as an evidence of her love. She thus anticipated His death and burial, knowing that she could not minister unto Him then. The Lord received this act of love at its full value. Against the foul criticism of Judas, Jesus defended Mary. He declared that it was no more a waste than the ointment placed on the bodies of the dead in embalmment. In fact it was the doing of this very act beforehand unto Him. Only Mary of all His disciples had really understood Jesus when He said He must be crucified and raised again the third day. The announcement of His crucifixion brought unto the others dismay. They refused to believe in the resurrection, but Mary came to annoint His body for burying.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 19

STEPHEN, THE MARTYR

LESSON TEXT—Acts 6:1—7:60.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation or distress or persecution or famine or nakedness or peril or sword?"—Rom. 8:35.

DEVOTIONAL READING—Rom 8:31-39.

PRIMARY TOPIC — How Stephen Showed His Love for Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC — Stephen Speaks Boldly for Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The First Christian Martyr.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Spirit of Stephen in the Modern Church.

I. Stephen, the Deacon (6:1-8).

The early church was threatened with disension over suspected partiality in the distribution of alms. Up to this time it would seem that the apostles did all the work. In view of such burdens, perhaps some things had been neglected. However, the church proved itself capable of meeting the exigency. A congregational meeting was called; the case placed before the church and the church instructed to select seven spirit-filled men of good reputation to administer the temporalities of the church, giving the apostles the necessary time for prayer and the ministry of God's word. Thus we see how that the Spirit-guided church was able to solve its own problems, and how church government developed. Just as the deacon's office sprang out of this dissension, so new needs called forth new officers. Among the seven deacons, Stephen had first place. While engaged in his duties as deacon, he sprang into the light as an eloquent and powerful preacher. So mighty was his ministry that the number of disciples greatly increased; even many of the priests believed.

II. Stephen Before the Council (6:9-15).

1—Disputing With Stephen (vv. 9, 10).

Certain foreign speaking Jews took the lead in this controversy. Perhaps the fact that Stephen was a Grecian Jew provoked them to the act. He was more than a match for them while the debate was carried along the lines of reason and Scripture.

2—Charged With Blasphemy (vv. 11-14).

They trumped up this charge and endeavored to support it by secretly finding and inducing men to perjure themselves in their testimony. Stephen showed in his preaching that God's purpose was progressive and that the policy instituted by Moses should be superseded by the new faith, since this was the culmination of what Moses began. He showed that the old dispensation would be superseded by the new and that the church would come out into the liberty of Christ.

3—Stephen's Face Transfigured (v. 15).

He was so completely filled with Christ that his face shone as the face of an angel. It was Christ shining through him.

III. Stephen's Defense (7:1-53).

In refuting their charge he showed by the history of God's dealing with the Jews that they had always resisted Him. Therefore their present attitude was because they were unwilling to move forward with the divine purpose. As pointed out by Stifler four points stand out in his defense:

1. God's dealings with the Jews showed progress. The end was not reached by a single leap but by gradual stages.

2. The temple was not the only holy place. God appeared at different places and at different times.

3. Israel invariably opposed God as He tried to lead them on.

4. He showed his loyalty to Moses by constantly referring to him.

IV. Stephen Stoned (7:54-60).

1.—Looked Steadfastly Into Heaven (v. 55).

This was the secret of his calm. If he had looked about him he might have been afraid.

2. He saw the glory of God.

A vision of God's glory can only be seen by those who are loyal unto Him, even unto death.

3. He saw Jesus standing on the right hand of God. The fact that Jesus was standing shows that He is actively interested in the suffering of His faithful witnesses.

4. Cast him out of the city and stoned him.

5. His prayer (v. 60). How like that of Jesus on the cross. Christ so completely filled him that he could thus act.

6. He fell asleep (v. 60). The Christian's death is only a sleep. This sublime scene must have vitally affected Saul who was consenting unto his death.

In Great Books.

We find little in a book but what we put there. But in great books the mind finds room to put many things.—Joubert.

Are Little Men.

Those who follow that part of themselves which is little are little men.

Fear.

Fear is more painful to cowardice than death to true courage.—Sir P. Sidney.

Louisiana Woman Is Relieved of Terrible Affliction by Taking Stella Vitae.

"When I began taking Stella Vitae my back was so weak and painful I could hardly stoop over to tie my shoes," said Mrs. H. Daigle, of Sunset, La.

"My trouble was delayed and painful periods that caused me to suffer agonies. My back felt like it would break in two, and the most awful dragging-down pains racked my body. My stomach was weak and things didn't always set well with me. I felt draggy and no-account and had no ambition to do anything.

"I have taken four bottles of Stella Vitae and am now all right with my periods and am getting better and stronger every day. In fact I am in better condition today than I have been in years."

Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.

ATKINSON EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

To The People of Grenada County:

I wish to say that I appreciate most profoundly the honor you have conferred upon me in naming me over your present worthy County Superintendent of Education as his successor. To be at the head of the public schools of any County carries not only a great honor but an unusual responsibility. We are in a transitory period about many things. We need to be steadied socially, politically, in an educational way as well as in an economic way. Our schools can be made and should be made potent agencies for good in adjusting all these things. I promise to do all that is in my power to make our public schools fit the conditions of our people and to make them builders for all that is good in Mississippi. I covet the cooperation and the advice of the good people of the County in the administration of the duties of the office of County Supt. of Education. Thanking my friends especially, and everybody who voted for me, I am Gratefully, yours,

LaFAYETTE ATKINSON

Holcomb, Miss., Aug. 10, 1923.

WOOD EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

To The People of Grenada County:

Although not successful as a candidate for the office of Circuit Clerk, yet I am deeply sensible of the interests manifested in me by so many friends. Had my health been such as would have permitted me to see the voters in person and to have made a more thorough canvass, I believe the result would have been different. I think I am a well man now, but have been so but a few weeks. I enjoyed the campaign. Everybody treated me nicely. Especially am I grateful for the almost unanimous vote given me at Oxberry where I was born and reared and by the people among whom I lived until just three or four years ago. They have tied me to them with hooks of steel. I shall love them for their expression of confidence in me. I am especially grateful, too, to the voters at Holcomb, also in the community where I was reared. Again thanking one and all,

I am Yours truly,

August 10, 1923. J. W. WOOD

W. V. HORTON GREATLY APPRECIATES HIS NOMINATION

To The People of District 3:

To have been nominated for the office of Supervisor over such a worthy man and good citizen by the decided vote I received, is an honor that should be appreciated by any man. I am grateful for every kind word said and for every consideration shown me. The vote I received imposes on me a double responsibility as Supervisor. I ask the aid and the cooperation of every good citizen of my district, indeed of the entire County. The Supervisor's office has always been a very important one, but the immense expenditures of the present day and the matter of taxes make it more than ever a matter of serious concern to the people. I shall do what I can to see that the County's affairs are run in a business way and to see that tax burdens are so low as possible consistent with the necessities of the hour. With every expression of gratitude, I am Gratefully yours,

August 10, 1923 W. V. HORTON
